

BIZ PICTORIAL

The overall winner of the Kenya Airways Golf Safari 2014/2015 Joseph Njagi receives a dummy passenger ticket from KQ chief executive Mbuvi Ngunze and Tourism Cabinet secretary Phyllis Kandie during the KQ Golf Safari grand finale at Windsor Golf and Country Club. Njagi will travel to London to watch the famous British Golf Tournament in July.

Brookside Dairy's general manager for milk procurement and extension services John Gethi (2nd L) presents milk delivery truck keys to the chairman of Rongo Dairy Co-operative Society Maurice Onyango after a recent farmer promotion run by the processor. Brookside's administration manager, Beatrice Otieno looks on.

Resolution Insurance CEO Peter Nduati (centre) is taken through the new Bima Intermediaries Association of Kenya website during its launch by chairman Washington Ndegea (L) at a Nairobi hotel. Looking on is Resolution Insurance general manager James Wanjohi. The association will champion the needs of small insurance agents.

Nairobi Securities Exchange chief executive Geoffrey Odundo and NIC Group managing director John Gachora are taken through the NSE Investment Challenge trading platform by NSE's Zipporah Wanyoike during the launch of the competition targeting university students.

Total Kenya's card sales manager Gerald Matola and Kingsway Group corporate development director Amal Shah launch the free fuel offer which runs until April 15. The campaign is sponsored by the two firms.

Wananchi Group chief human resources officer John Ngoru presents an iPad to State House Girls Nairobi student Faith Musangi, who was named the best student in Form Three during the annual Mathematics Contest 2015 sponsored by Zuku. Looking on is the school's principal Joan Muoti.

Responsible Alcohol Drinks Companies Association director Gareth Jones and NACADA chairman John Mututho officially launch the 'No ID No Sale' campaign aimed at discouraging sale of alcohol to minors.

Bank of Africa Kenya head of marketing Jimmi Wanjohi presents Annie Mutethia with a prize for being third in the bronze category during the medal number held at Karen Country club recently. Bank of Africa sponsored the event.

